FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY,
COUNCIL BLUFFS.

INTRODUCTION

The presentation of the Council Bluffs City Directory for 1921 is a notice to the public that the publishers have taken their inventory of the city and the work done is presented herewith. The citizens of Council Bluffs have been interviewed at their places of business as well as their residences and the listings given here are the results of such interviews. Changes from the 1919 directory comprise more than 70 per cent of the total number of entries, a convincing argument showing the absolute necessity for revision. Upon the publication of this new directory the old ones have become obsolete except as a part of the permanent history of the city, it's people and its institutions, for they are of little value to those who wish to know the existing conditions in and concerning the city. The publishers have enjoyed the advantages of a thoroughly tested system and of a complete organization and the further advantages of the courteous co-operation of the people in furnishing information for publication, which without it would have been impossible to have produced this directory.

The alphabetical list of names, comprising 20,964 names, begins on page 31. The numerical street directory, immediately following the alphabetical list of names, is arranged in alphabetical order according to names of streets and in numerical order according to the house numbers and shows the occupant of any store, office, building or residence in the city. The classified business directory, in the last part of the book, contains the individual names of all business and professional men and of business firms arranged according to their many and varying lines of business or profession, affording a ready means of identifying all persons or firms who are in the same line of business and in a compact form shows "who is who" in the business life of Council Bluffs.

POPULATION

This volume contains 20,964 alphabetical names, which multiplied by 2½ to represent married women and children who are not included in the above count, indicates a population of 52,410. Using the multiple of 2¼ which is the lowest used anywhere in the United States gives a population of 47,169. This is in excess of the population given by the government census enumerators, but when it is considered that the canvass of the directory is not confined strictly to the city limits and that the canvass for the directory was made fully one year after the census enumeration and by experienced men who have been thoroughly trained in the work, the difference is not so great and all will admit that Council Bluffs is hovering around the 50,000 mark.

Thanking our patrons and the public in general for the many courtesies extended to our representatives while gathering data and soliciting patronage, we are,

Respectfully, the Publishers,
R. L. POLK & CO.
